India Circular Economy Forum (ICEF 2025)

The India Circular Economy Forum (ICEF) 2025, held at the Radisson Hotel, Gurugram was designed to bring together a wide range of stakeholders—policymakers, business leaders, innovators to accelerate India's transition from linear to circular economic models.

The India Circular Economy Forum (ICEF) is one of the country's most important platforms dedicated to accelerating the shift from a linear to a circular economy. Organized annually by the International Council for Circular Economy (ICCE), ICEF brings together policymakers, business leaders, researchers, and innovators to drive systems-level change in how India manages its resources.

Our Founder & CEO

was invited as a speaker at the forum, where he shared his thoughts on the topic "Circular Cities: Integrating Urban Planning and the Circular Economy."

From sectors like construction and e-waste to mobility, packaging, and textiles, ICEF offers deep insights, case studies, and discussions on scalable models that promote reuse, recycling, regeneration, and responsible production. The forum also acts as a bridge between innovation and policy, encouraging collaborations that support both sustainable development and economic persistence.

In his session, Mr. Sahay spoke about the importance of moving away from linear systems and adopting circular solutions to manage urban resources more efficiently. He also highlighted role of decentralised waste management, citizen participation, and innovative city planning in building a cleaner, more sustainable future.
